TWO CHARTER AMENDMENTS PASSED TODAY

Chandler Is Criticised for Favoring School Teachers' Pension—Bills Passed Today.

(Special from United Press.) Hartford, June 10.-The Senate was n session an hour and a half and devoted its attention mainly to its calendar. It concurred with the House in passing under suspension of the rules the bill giving Grand Army and Spanish War veterans quarters in national armories; providing for an is-national armories; providing for an issue of bonds for Fairfield county and an issue of bonds for the town of Greenwich, and received from the Governor the nomination of George A. Cosgreve of Willington to be a member of the State Board of Agriculture. Among the matters passed by the Senate were the following:

A bill providing a commission inquiring into the advisability of the State taking over the Connecticut river ferries; causing moving picture apparatus to be fireproof; an act concerning the right of appeal of the members of the city of Bridgeport; and the appointments of a judge and deputy judge of the town of Branford. These are Edwin R. Kelsey, Jr., and John Eades.

The House spent half an hour to-day discussing the picturesque pension bill which had been unfavorably reported by the committee on education and previously turned down by the Senate. Mr. Chandler of Rocky Hill made a strenuous plea for the bill and the discussion assumed something of a personal character when Fuller of Suffield cussion assumed something of a per-sonal character when Fuller of Suffield intimated that Chandler's interest in row Evening at City Hill A meeting of the Bridgeport Relief Association, which has for its object sonal character when Fuller of Suffield intimated that Chandler's interest in the matter arose from the fact that he sells school books and later when Mr. Higgins of Winchester quoted Chandler as saying that the school teachers in Connecticut are deteriorating.

Chandler sprang up to explain that in making this statement he was quoting a school principal and not asserting something of his own knowledge. He said he believed that the Democratic ficor leader knew this. The weight of the sentiment against the bill lay in the large expense that it might ontail in the future and the feeling in the House was that higher salaries should be paid teachers in order that they themselves might provide for their old age.

The House acted favorably on the following matters:

The Bridgeport charter amendment in regard to a paying commission paying forest fire wardens thirty-five cents per hour: providing that inmates of charitable institutions in New Haven may have the right to vote and appropriating for the expenses of the response to the appeal for aid to carry on the work has been met with great enthusiasm by a number of various civic bodies in this city, principally in the factories, where the returns have been very good. This organization has a staff of officers who have taken a great interest in the work to be done and who are ready to listen to the appeal of the needy. The members of the association include those who in any way have contributed their little bit that it might be of some assistance to some poor sufferer. President Dudley P. Bullard has taken a great interest in the work, and has received assurances from a number of local societies that they will be represented at may have the right to vote and ap-propriating for the expenses of the National Guard in attending the 250th assurances from a number of local so-cieties that they will be represented at the gathering. Rerecently Mr. Bullard spoke before a meeting of Italians in Lyceum Hall and also before the Ger-man Bund, all of whom have shown great enthusiasm in the work to be July 5th.

Skeleton of Murdered Bergamo Remains Among the Exhibits in Court House Room-State's Attorney May Donate It to Institution of Learning.

The unsightly skeleton of Guissepe Bergamo which was gruesome evidence at the recent trial of Dominico Bove, sentenced by Judge Robinson to serve from 10 to 15 years in prison is still in the exhibit room at the County Court House. In the opinion of physicians who have inspected the skeleton it is what they call a masterpiece. It is not yet known what will be done with the exhibit, but it is believed that the State's Attorney will donate it to some museum of learning.

HOWLAND'S

Encrances on Main street. Fairfield avenue, and Cannon street.

Bridgeport, Conn., Thursday, June 10, 1909.

The Weather-Cloudy, rain tonight and tomorrow, followed by clearing.

There's sunshine at the June sale of underwear.

No matter how gloomy it may be out of doors, the June sale is full of cheeriness and charm and sunshine The beauteous garthat ments spread out, the daintiness that marks them, the fineness of their fabric, the excelvalue lence and which are so plainly apparent; - these all make of the June sale a place of delight.

The hand - embroidered garments from France are simply delightful and rich. The lacetrimmed things have a daintiness that is rare and satisfying. The new tailored underwear appeals to women who delight in crisp plain wearables. That woman who loves embroidery will find much to admire in the collection. And every woman who enjoys buying an article for less than its real value will reap a full harvest of enjoyment.

Read these examples over. Then come and see them; see the careful way they are made, see the taste which goes with the skill of their designers, note their thorough goodness as well as their low-pricedness
